

Lake Shore Obstetrics and Gynecology, LLC is working hard to keep our patients and staff safe in the setting of Covid-19.

Lake Shore Obstetrics & Gynecology is following the NMH guidelines for visitors to our office.

For our pregnant patients, we will remain open for your routine prenatal appointments assuming you do not have signs of infection or exposure concerns. If you do have signs of infection or exposure, please contact your health care provider.

For our New OB patients only 1 visitor is allowed for the provider visit only, not during the ultrasound.

For our 20 week OB patients only 1 visitor is allowed for the provider visit only, not during the ultrasound.

All other OB appointments, no visitors are allowed.

All other types of appointments, no visitors are allowed.

As you may be aware, there are currently recommendations to avoid any non-essential travel or activities. At this time we are rescheduling annual examination appointments for later in the summer. We are optimistic that the concerns over Coronavirus infection will be resolved by then.

If you have a question about your health that you'd like to discuss with one of our providers we can take a message and forward it to them. Also, we now have telehealth visits available for our patients.

We will continue to keep you updated so please check our lakeshoreobgyn-chicago.com website for regular announcements.
